

A plan for Juval's & Lucia's

Everything Juval's does, connected.

More guests from the highway, more reviews on Google, and three kitchens plus Lucia's run from one place. This is what we would build with you.

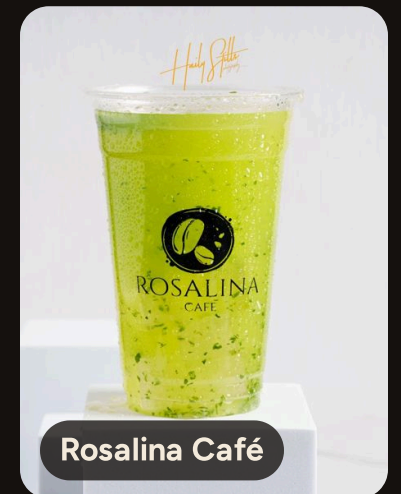

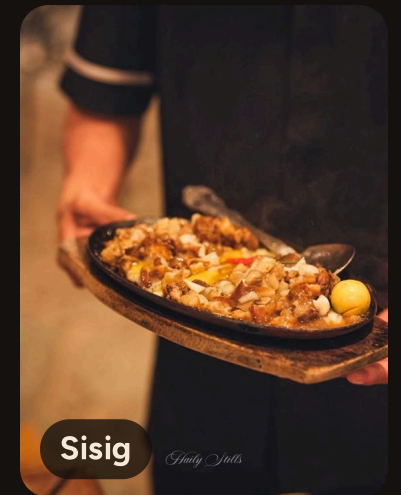

Prepared by IVNautomation, Cagayan · October 2026

WHAT YOU ALREADY HAVE

People already drive here for the food and the garden.

- Three kitchens, one table. Juval's Grill, Don Jose Pizza and Rosalina Café.
- A garden and a rattan hall for birthdays, reunions and catering.
- On the national highway, open daily 9 AM to 9 PM, free parking.
- Signature dishes: batil patong, sisig, crispy pata, cucumber lemonade.
- Rated 4.1 on Google from 27 reviews.

The food and the place are ready. What is missing is the system around them.

STEP ONE IS DONE

Your website is already live.

- All three menus with prices and search, so guests decide before they arrive.
- Open now status, hours, Google Maps and Waze directions.
- Reservations and event inquiries sent straight to your phone by text or Messenger.
- One tap to call, message or leave a Google review.
- Fast on mobile data, built for phones first.

Next on the website

Order and pay online with GCash or Maya, book with a deposit, catering quotes, your own domain such as juvals.ph, and a page for Lucia's.

WHY IT MATTERS

The numbers behind those leaks.

REVIEWS AND REVENUE

5 to 9%

more revenue for each extra star, for independent restaurants (US Yelp study)

HOW GUESTS CHOOSE

31%

of consumers only use businesses rated 4.5 stars or higher, up from 17% a year before (US)

COST OF THE APPS

1 in 4

pesos of a typical delivery app order go to commission (20 to 33% by plan). A business QR costs about 1%

WHERE GUESTS ARE

95.8M

people in the Philippines reachable by Facebook ads, 82% of the population

OUR VISION FOR JUVAL'S

One system. We call it Hapag.

Hapag is the dining table. Everything sits at the same table: every guest, every order, every peso, every hour worked.

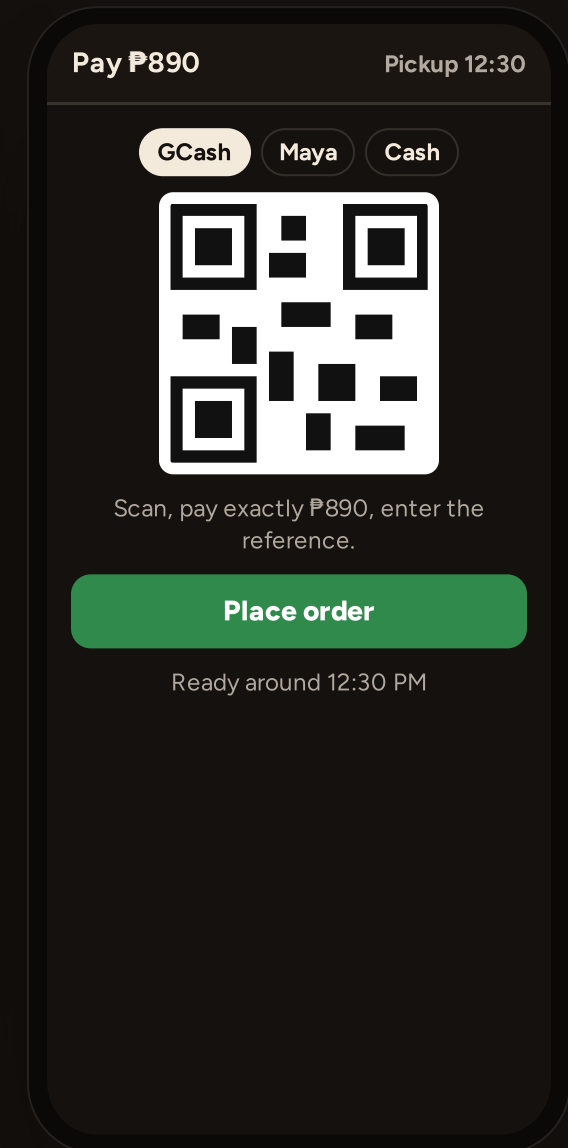

■ Bring guests in ■ Run the restaurant ■ Bring them back All of it on the owner's phone, for Juval's and Lucia's.

Bring guests in → Order direct. Keep the whole peso.

Your website becomes the counter: guests order from all three kitchens in one cart and pay by GCash or Maya before they arrive.

- One cart, three kitchens. Batil patong, a pizza and two lemonades in one order.
- Pickup, delivery or dine-in ready at a time they choose.
- Bookings with a deposit for the garden, the hall and bilao orders.
- Lands in the POS with a chime, no retyping.
- No commission. On a ₱1,000 bilao, a delivery app keeps ₱200 to ₱330. Your own QR costs about ₱10.

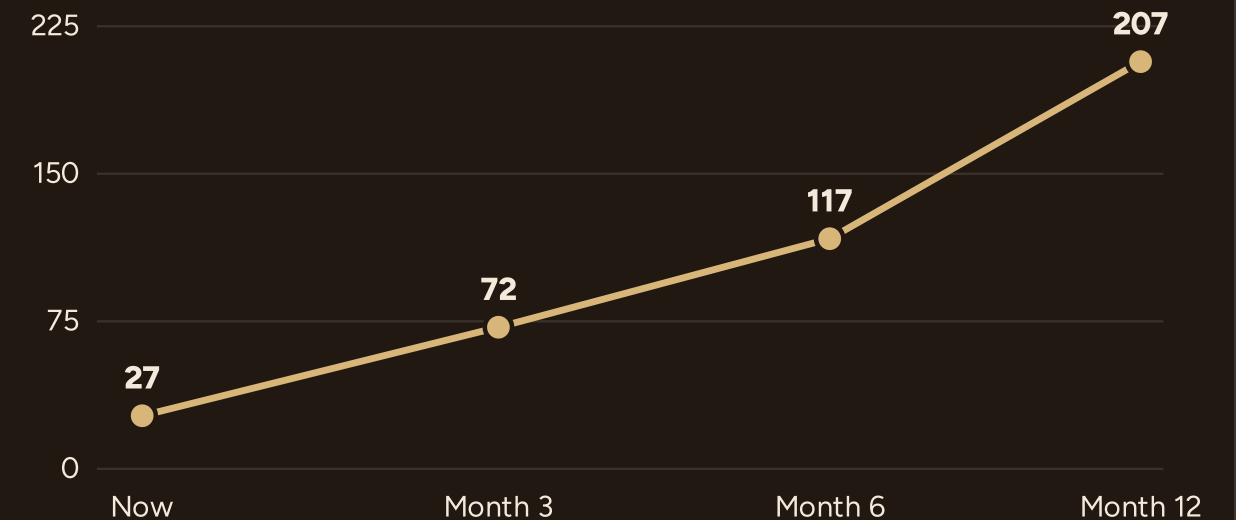

Bring guests in →

Tap the card. Leave a review. Rise on Maps.

Every table gets a stand and every server a card. A tap, or a scan of the QR beside it, opens Juval's Google review page. No app needed.

Reviews on Google our estimate

Base case: a stand on every table and a polite ask at every bill, about 15 new reviews a month.

- Each server's card counts its taps, so you can coach who offers it. No quotas, and guests are never asked to name anyone.
- Every review answered within 48 hours, drafted for you to approve.
- Within Google's rules: we ask every guest the same way, never reward a review, never send only happy guests, and no reviews from staff or family.

Bring guests in →

Reach every town on your stretch of highway.

What we run for you

- Facebook and Instagram ads that open a Messenger chat.
- TikTok and Reels of the sizzling sisig, filmed on site.
- Google Maps profile kept fresh: menu, photos, hours.
- Text blasts only to guests who opted in.

Campaign calendar

Run the restaurant →

One bill. Three kitchen tickets. Three clear reports.

- Each kitchen gets only its items, on its own printer or screen.
- Sales split by brand so you see what Grill, Don Jose and Rosalina each earn.
- Senior and PWD discounts worked out the legal way, name and ID on the slip.
- GCash, Maya, cash and card, split bills, held tickets per table.
- Manager PIN for voids, refunds and discounts. Every action logged.

Already built. We built this POS for Mogoba Korean Food House in Aparri, and you can try the demo today: register, kitchen queue, stock, reports and online orders. Until Hapag is BIR-accredited, it prints order slips and you keep your registered invoices.

Know what's in the freezer and what each plate costs.

- Every sale deducts its recipe: one crispy pata takes one pata, oil and sauce.
- Expiry dates per delivery, oldest used first, alerts before pork or milk turns.
- Food cost per dish and per kitchen, against your target.
- Reorder list by supplier, ready to send on Messenger.
- Waste and count variance so missing stock shows up the same week.

Clock in, clock out. Payroll ready on cut-off day.

- Staff enter a PIN on the counter tablet. A photo at clock-in stops buddy punching.
- Schedules by kitchen, shift swaps approved on your phone.
- DOLE rules built in: Region II minimum ₱500 a day (RTWPB 2-24). Overtime +25%, night +10%, regular holiday 200%, special day 130%.
- Labor % next to sales, hour by hour, so you staff the lunch rush and not the quiet 3 PM.
- Payslips by Messenger, SSS, PhilHealth and Pag-IBIG listed.

WHY ONE SYSTEM BEATS EIGHT APPS

Each part makes the next one work better.

Because the website, the POS, the review cards and the ads share one guest list, every visit makes the next campaign smarter and the next review more likely.

Separate apps cannot do this. Their numbers never meet.

Live in stages, starting this month.

Next 2 weeks	By day 90	By month 6	By month 12
● Google profile cleaned up ● Review stands and cards on every table ● Own domain, juvals.ph ● Undas ads from 12 Oct	● Events board with deposits ● Stamp card and feedback by mobile number ● Staff time clock before December payroll ● Bilao pre-orders paid by QR	● POS for three kitchens, one at a time ● Stock and weekly food cost ● Owner dashboard and morning message ● Online pickup orders	● Lucia's on the same system ● BIR accreditation, if you want it ● About 200 reviews, near 4.5 stars ● Next steps chosen from real data

HOW WE'LL KNOW IT'S WORKING

Targets we will report on every month.

MEASURE	TODAY	MONTH 6	MONTH 12	WHY IT MATTERS
Google reviews	27	117	207	47% skip places with under 20 reviews our estimate
Google rating	4.1	4.3	4.5	31% only pick places rated 4.5 or higher our estimate
Events booked with a deposit	Not tracked	All	All	No double-booked hall, fewer no-shows our estimate
Cost per Messenger chat from ads	Not tracked	₱20 to ₱60	₱15 to ₱50	Shows which ad peso works our estimate
Weekly food cost per kitchen	Not measured	Measured	28 to 35%	Philippine target range; above 40% needs fixing
Sales from returning guests	Not measured	Baseline	Above baseline	Shows the stamp card works our estimate

WHY US

Built in Cagayan, for restaurants like yours.

We already started

Your website is live today, built before we asked for anything.

Works when the signal drops

Sales, stock and time records keep working offline and sync later.

One message away

Local support by Messenger and on site, not a call center.

It is already built

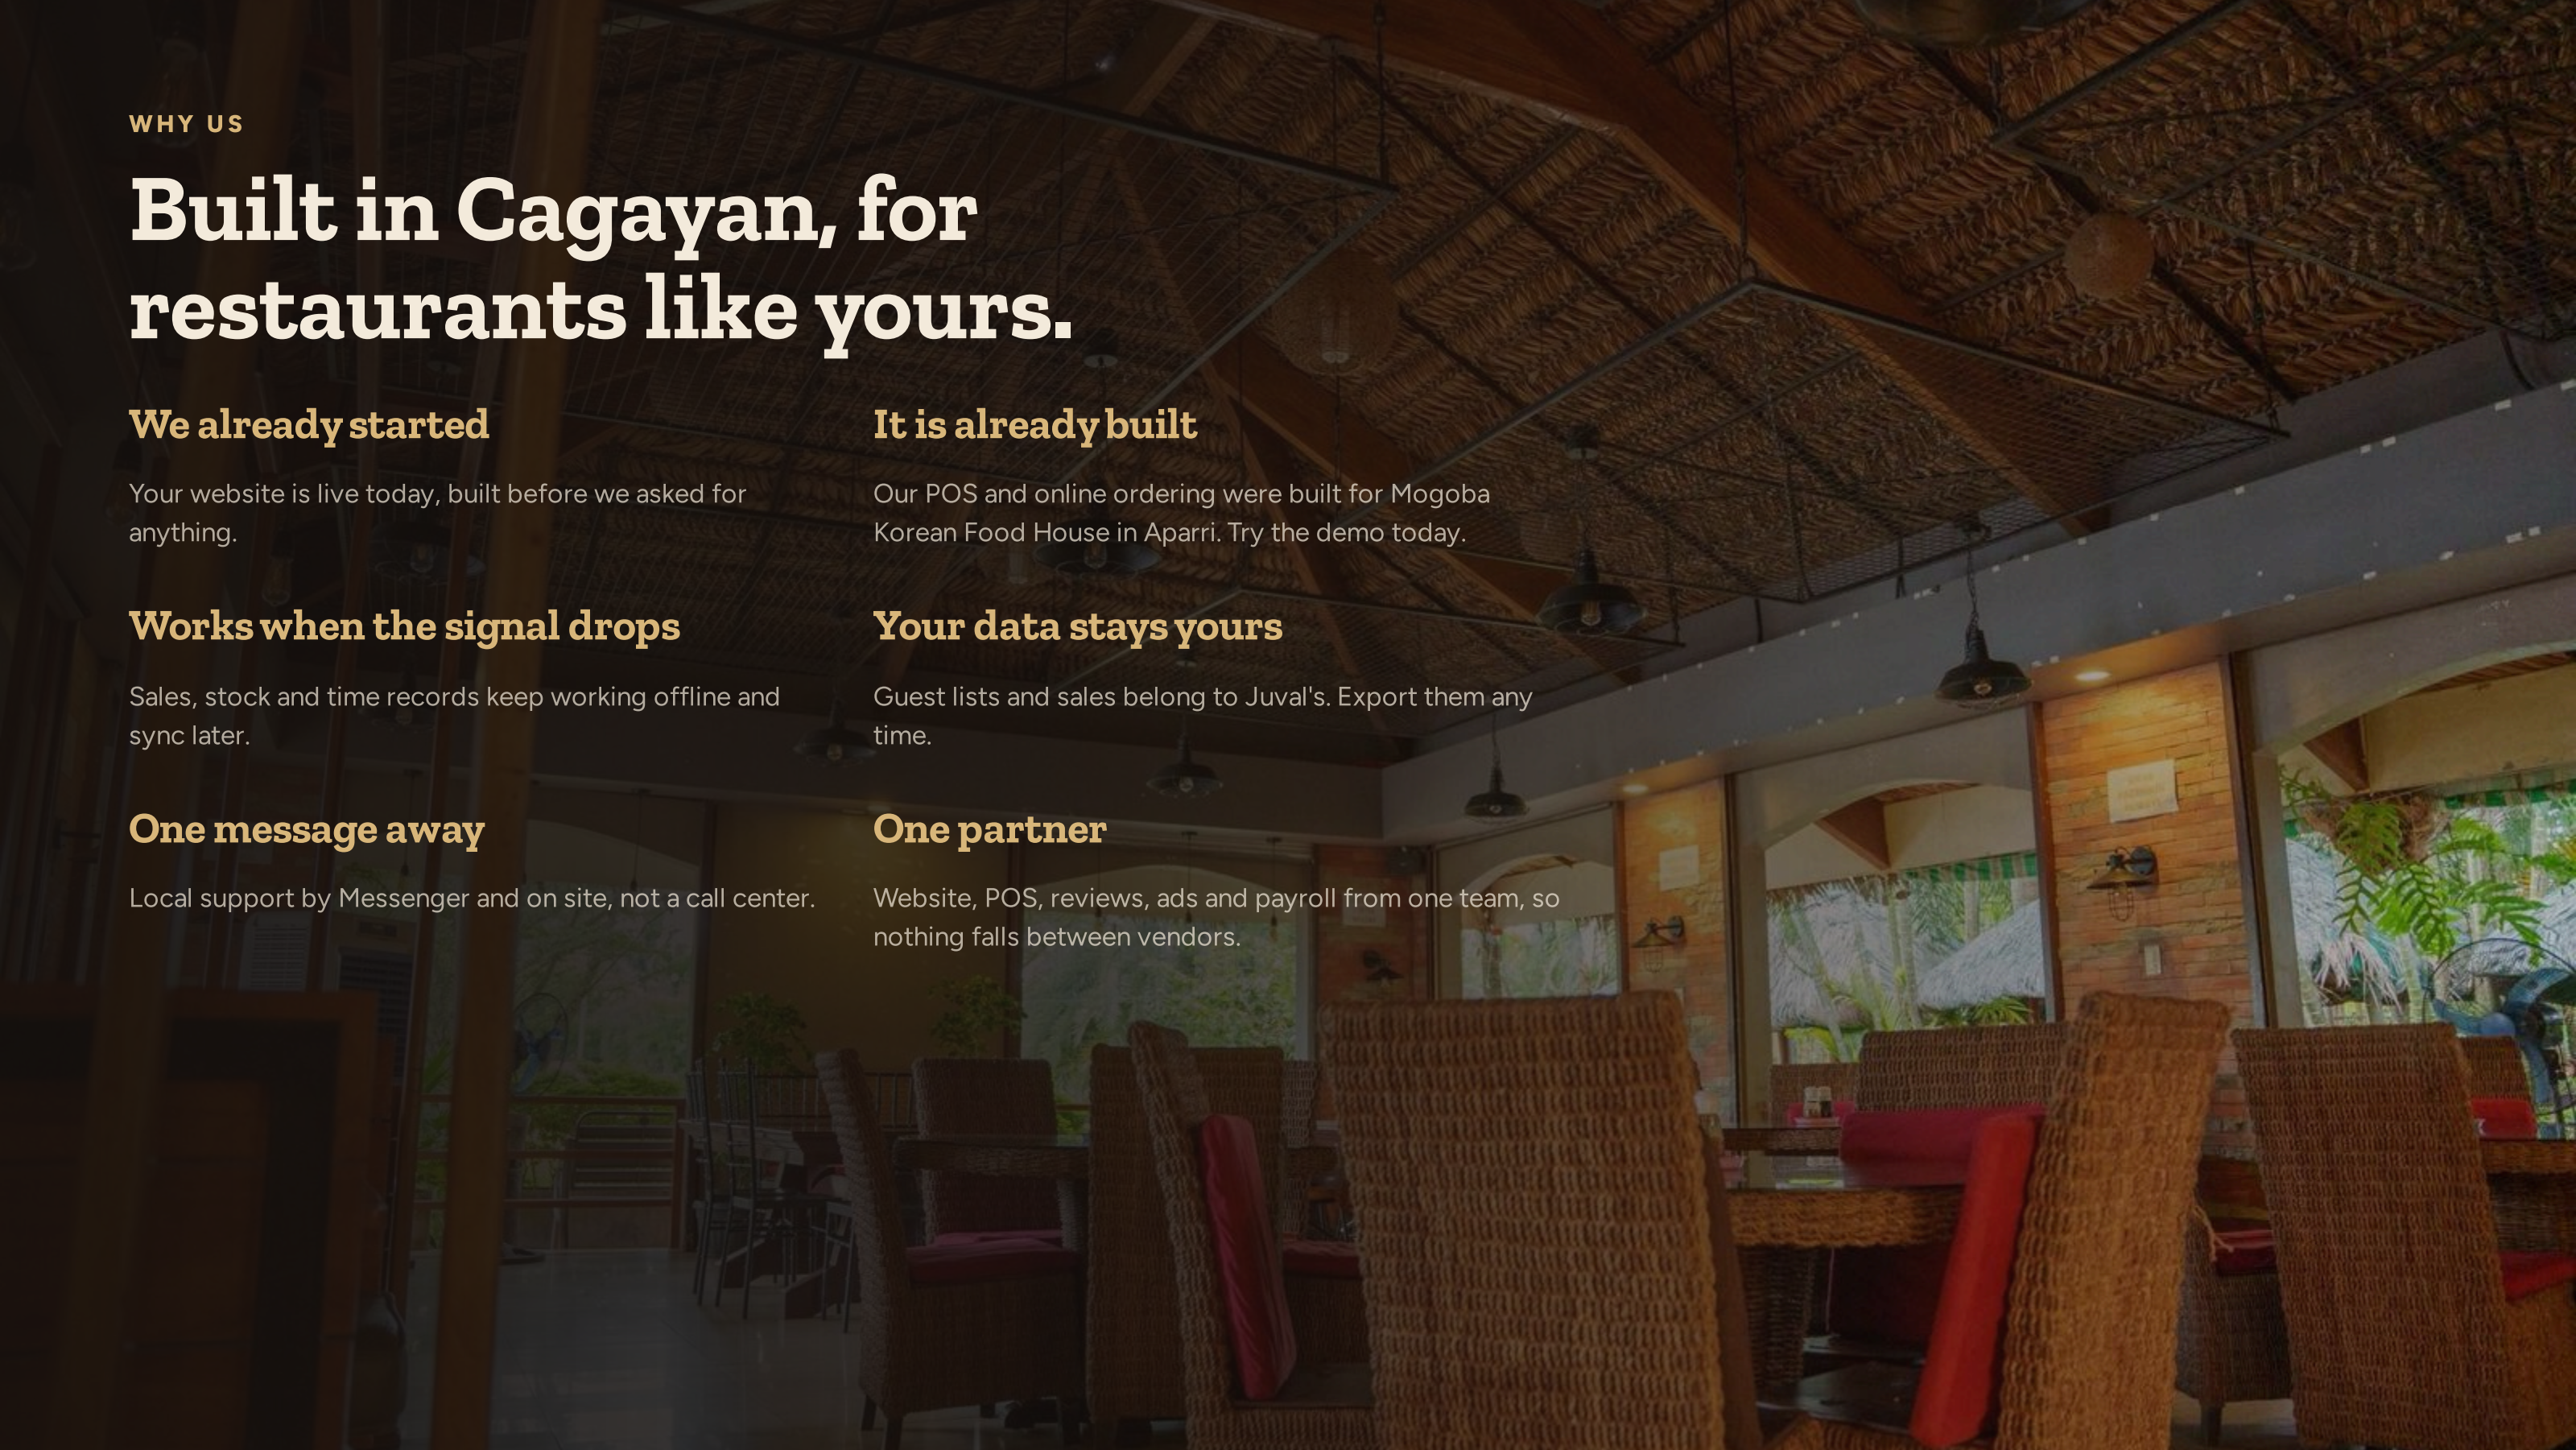

Our POS and online ordering were built for Mogoba Korean Food House in Aparri. Try the demo today.

Your data stays yours

Guest lists and sales belong to Juval's. Export them any time.

One partner

Website, POS, reviews, ads and payroll from one team, so nothing falls between vendors.

Salamat po

Next steps

- Today: walk through the live website together and note any changes.
- This week: agree on where to start and pick a date.
- First two weeks: review cards on every table, Google profile cleaned up, menu and photos refreshed.
- Then: POS and online ordering, staff time clock, and Lucia's.
